'Our lives will never be the same'

A FORMAL investigation is under way after "dedicated, highly skilled and courageous soldier" Lance Corporal Jack Fitzgibbon's death shocked the Hunter.

The special forces member, who was the son of long-serving former Hunter MP and defence minister Joel Fitzgibbon, died after a parachuting incident on Wednesday.

The Australian Army has temporarily paused all parachute training in the wake of the 2nd Commando Regiment veteran's parachute apparently failing to deploy.

"We are devastated and heartbroken by the loss of our wonderful Jack," Mr Fitzgibbon said in a statement on behalf of the family.

"Serving in the special forces was Jack's dream job and we take some comfort from the fact that he died serving his nation in a uniform of the ADF."

THE ODE

They shall grow not old, as we
that are left grow old;
Age shall not weary them, nor
the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun
and in the morning
We will remember them.

From the poem For the Fallen by Laurence Binyon (1869–1943)
